BOND ISSUE DEFEATS INFLUENCE RESIGNATION OF SCHOOL BOARD MEMBER

Peter J. Ferrante, of Carmel, resigned from the Carmel School Board Tuesday night. A member of the group for the past 10 years, he said the failure of the two local school bond issues had influenced him in his decision to resign the board.

In his letter of resignation he asked the board to continue to strive for better educational facilities for Carmel children, but Mr. Ferrante attacked those people who did not support the recent bond issues.

"An element interested only in the advantages they find here, the beautiful surroundings, a good community, and, in many cases, profitable business opportunities, but with no intention of sharing the responsibilities..." was the way he referred to the "no" element that has moved into Carmel."

"It is something new for a school board to be criticized for not keeping school standards of the district down to the level of the impoverished districts of the state," he said.

Building Detour for Valley Road

A much-needed by-pass around a 3,000 foot construction area on the Camel Valley Road was scheduled to start this week and is expected to be completed in about seven days.

In response to a photograph and editorial comment published in the June 2 issue of The SPECTATOR, valley resort operators and property owners met with engineers Tuesday to discuss building of a detour between the Tice Ranch and the Cooper Ranch bridge. This would take motorists safely past the dangerous, hilly section where construction on the road has brought traffic to a standstill as long as two hours at a time.

Resort owners complained they were losing thousands of dollars each week in cancelled reservations because tourists were disgusted with traffic conditions on the road. Valley residents were afraid of the section around which the by-pass is being installed. One automobile was struck recently by a falling rock and other motorists have reported narrow escapes.

Sparked by Phil Wilson, of White Oak Inn, a group of 13 valleyites, representing about one and one-half million dollars in property talked the matter over Tuesday during a luncheon at Los Laureles Lodge. They presented their problem to C. I. Brown, assistant district engineer for the State Department of Work, and Guy L. Murphy, resident engineer for the county and state.

Brown informed the group that permission for construction of a detour would have to be obtained from Howard Cozzens, county engineer, who okayed the detour with the provision that the valleyites secure the necessary rights of way from persons whose property the by-pass must go through.

A committee composed of Brown, Murphy, Wilson, Peggy Porter Marquard, Janet Buchanan Arnold and George Smith went out after the luncheon and secured the rights of way in a matter of only one hour. The by-pass will run through the Tice Ranch, Rancho Las Fiestas and property owned by Carmel Mayor Allen Knight. It will necessitate construction of at least one bridge across the Camel River, as a detour would not be feasible on the north side of the river, the engineers said.

Among those who attended the luncheon meeting were Guy Taylor, Herb Brook, of Los Laureles Lodge, Mrs. C. Holman, of Holman's Guest Ranch, Lucille Erdle, Mrs. K. D. Mathiot, Bob Mills, of The Carousel, Gunnar Eliason, Julie Risdon and Jean Willicomb.

55 to Receive Carmel Diplomas

Fifty-five students will receive their diplomas from Carmel High School during commencement exercises tonight at 8 p.m. in Sunset School auditorium. Music by the Carmel High School Orchestra and an 18-student vocal ensemble, plus a cornet solo by James Tanous, will highlight speeches by Janice Hatton, salutatorian, Peter Lyon, class of 1950 speaker, and Ann Thoeni, valedictorian.

SPEAKERS at the graduation exercises will be Janice Hatton (left) salutatorian, Peter Lyon, and Ann Thoeni, valedictorian.

District Superintendent Stuart Mitchell will present the graduating class, while diplomas are to be awarded by Harold Nielsen, president of the Board of Trustees. Invocation and Benediction will be rendered by the Rev. Mr. Alfred B. Seccombe, of All Saints' Church, Carmel.

Last Friday's issue of The Padre, high school newspaper, featured the Class Prophecy, Senior Will and a story about the 1950 class since its graduation from the seventh grade. Besides photographs of various senior groups, the bi-weekly newspaper also ran a picture of the class sponsors, Mrs. Ellen Jane Down and John Farr.

Class presidents, freshman through senior years, included Legare McNeill, Steve Whittaker, Erik Short, Bill Albee, Peter Berg, Ed Goodrick, Jim Hare and Janice Hatton.

SINGING STAR To ENTERTAIN At NAVY BALL

Martha Tilton, well known radio and personal-appearance singing star, of Hollywood, has accepted an invitation to appear at the Navy Relief Ball to be held at 9 p.m. at the Navy School, Monterey, on Saturday, June 17, Captain T. J. Casey, commanding officer, announced.

Miss Tilton, known to all America for her recordings, her radio show daily over western networks and her hundreds of singing engagements overseas with the USO during the war, will be accompanied by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred S. Tilton, of Carmel, and her accompanist, Charles Lavere.

Lieutenant Commander Judson C. Davis, Jr., USN, will escort Miss Tilton during the evening of the ball. LCDR Davis is a student officer at the Naval School. A naval aviator, LCDR Davis served on the USS Minneapolis, was injured during the battle of Tassafaronga. He wears the Navy Cross, two distinguished flying crosses, three air medals, the purple heart and presidential unit citation.

Martha Tilton, remembered on the peninsula for her popularizing of "As The Angels Sing" with Benny Goodman's band, is one of the entertainers best liked by service men all over the world for her many appearances overseas and in service clubs and hospitals during and after the war. She was especially invited to the Navy Relief Ball, according to Captain Casey, because of her many fans among the student officers and their families here in Monterey.

Miss Tilton is expected to sing with both bands, in the main ballroom and downstairs in the old Del Monte Ball Room on the night of the ball. One of the 22 special boxes along the walls of the main ballroom has been reserved for Miss Tilton's party, her mother and father, accompanist Charles Lavere and escort, Lieutenant Commander Davis.

Miss Tilton is heard weekdays on CBS with Kirk Massey on the Alka-Seltzer Show. She is known to servicemen in the Pacific Theater for her appearances with Jack Benny and also in the European theater through her many USO performances. "I Remember April," with Paul Whiteman, and "Glocamora" are both songs she made popular during the war and immediate postwar years.

BIG SUR POST OFFICE HOLDING EXAMS FOR SUBSTITUTE CLERK POST

Examinations for probational appointment to the position of substitute clerk in the Big Sur Post Office are being held at 1 p.m., June 24, at the Monterey Union High School.

Applicants must reside within the Big Sur postal delivery zone and be patrons of the Post Office. Basic rate of pay for the position is $1.315.

SCHAPIRO TO PLAY CLAVICHORD RECITALS AT BACH FESTIVAL

Attracting wide interest on the program of Carmel's Thirteenth Annual Bach Festival, which takes place July 16 to 23, are the Well Tempered Clavichord recitals, which are to be given in the mornings or afternoons in the Carmel Woman's Club. Maxim Schapiro is the outstanding pianist who has consented to perform the task of playing the entire 48 of the Bach Preludes and Fugues.

Like the 32 sonatas of Beethoven, opportunity to hear all of the Preludes and Fugues is very rare. During the Bi-Centennial Bach celebrations, which are taking place throughout the world, the Well Tempered Clavichord recitals are scheduled in but a few of the Festivals. They are being played in the Vienna Festival and are a distinguished note of the Carmel Festival.

Originally planned for four sessions, Mr. Schapiro has decided to play them in three. He has been asked to play them in Kansas City, and is currently fulfilling the engagement, going from there to Anchorage, Alaska, and and the Northwest, where he will play a succession of concerts.

PTA COUNCIL MAPS NEXT YEAR'S SCHEDULE OF MEETING PLACES

The schedule for next year's meetings of the Executive Board of the Monterey Peninsula Council of Parent-Teachers Associations was announced during a meeting of the group last week at the home of Mrs. Peter Tracey.

Meeting on the third Monday of every other month, the organization will adhere to the following schedule: September, Bayview School; November, Thomas O. Larkin School; January, Noche Buena School; March, Carmel, and May, Seaside (the last two schools have not been chosen as yet).

Attending last week's meeting were the Mesdames H. M. Fox, Jr., Clyde Dorsey, Cottardo Laero, John Scardina, Colin Chambers, S. B. Knowles, Julian von Meier, N. Blackford, Thomas J. Elston, Jr., Paul Chedester, Porter Williams, Ralph Kent, William H. Fichter, Edmund Sullivan, Wendell Wheaton, Charles Stanyan and Clyde Thompson.

RETIRED OFFICERS' DINNER POSTPONED

The next Retired Officers' dinner, which normally would be held at the Naval School on July 4, will be held instead on July 11 because of the holiday. Normal notices will be mailed in due time.

EDITORIAL

A Love Story for PARENTS only

This is a love story.

It is being written from ten to one thousand years too late for some people, but the parents of some very small children on the Monterey Peninsula may profit by it if they read it. It is not too late for them to learn how tragically mistaken the parents of many older children have been in past years.

This is a story about love because it is a story about "Juvenile delinquency" - a rather tired old phrase that editorial writers have been using for years. The phrase is old and tired but, unfortunately, the problem behind it is as young and fresh as the young persons with whom it deals.

Sam the Painter

PAINTING & DECORATING

CALL CARMEL 7-6992

It seems strange that a problem could be sordid, yet have anything to do with love.

Last November 24 The SPECTATOR featured an editorial titled, "The Uncensored Audience," which attempted to call attention to youth problems right in our own home town, right where it hurts the most. The response to the editorial was gratifyingly (to a newspaper) quick and came firstly from a group of Carmel High School students who wrote this publication a letter. They thought we were being unfair in our expressed opinion that the gangs who loiter near the local theater should be broken up. They thought we weren't hitting at the basic cause of a problem which has become dangerous. In this, they thought quite correctly, for they were intelligent enough to blame juvenile delinquency, if we may use the phrase in this case, on our adult population - on the parents.

Now there are ugly rumours making the rounds: Reports of heavy drinking and signs of immorality among our high school students; Tales about marijuana and other unpleasant things.

We do not put ourselves in the absurd position of striking out at a group of boys and girls we know and like, nor do we wish to perpetuate tales that have no factual basis - if such is the case.

We know, however, that someone is selling marijuana to teenagers in this area.

We know that there IS heavy drinking among certain teenagers in this area.

We know there have been gang fights among high school boys from different cities.

We know that such problems do not exist only in the slum areas of large cities.

There are a thousand ready explanations for the existence of such problems, but only one - just one - is the basically correct answer.

The word is love. Its by-product is security.

Don't we love our children? Aren't we building them a new Youth Center? After all, what parents don't love their children?

We should like to state an axiom: "The amount of juvenile delinquency in a given community is inversely proportionate to the amount of love which permeates its family units."

Stated simply, this means that children whose parents take an active interest in them, children who come from a happy family and who are accustomed to an atmosphere of love seem better equipped to face the world in an increasingly complex society.

Parents certainly have a difficult time knowing when they are showing love for a child and when they are merely spoiling a child. A good gauge is this: "Am I doing this for my child or for myself?"

Love manifests itself in many ways, which is a cliché, but it IS true that not giving something to a child many times is a means of expressing love. Some parents will beggar themselves to provide nice clothes and other material things for their children, when it would have been wiser to explain why such things can't be given. If a parent has to work so hard to pay the bills that he or she doesn't even feel like talking to the child at night, what's the profit?

What possible security can a child feel when his home life is a constant battleground for careworn parents?

A small child feels an attachment for only two persons in the world, his parents. He strives to be like them. What a shock it must be a few years later when he discovers that his idols have clay feet.

The Carmel Youth Center is an extremely worthwhile project. We think it is one of the finest and most necessary buildings ever to be constructed in Carmel.

But any youth center or boy's club is only a building and cannot provide love. It will give shelter, activity, social contact and education, but it will not help small children who need something more than that.

Before each reform school in the United States should be erected a small brass plaque, reading: "This school is erected as a monument to the stupidity of the nation's parents."

Gentlemen:

I wish to take this opportunity to thank you for your wonderful support in the recent election. I know that all the advertising in the world could not have done for me what the written word freely given by you has done.

I sincerely hope that I can always carry out the ideals that you know I represent.

Yours very truly,
Burr Scott,

THE CREE WILDERS RETURN FROM EASTERN TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. Cree Wilder (Wilder and Jones), of Carmel, have just returned from an Eastern vacation trip. Flying to New York a little over a month ago the Wilders took in the latest shows and of course the ball games. Later they saw the sights in Washington and visited son Harlan and family. The return trip was made by car with numerous stops at childhood haunts and familiar places in the mid-West.

The Annual "Swallows" golf tournament, a two-day meeting of prominent men from all parts of the country, was won Sunday by Charles Thieriot and Kenneth Walsh, of San Francisco. The event, played at the Cypress Point Club, was played on a match play versus par basis, and the Thieriot-Walsh twosome were 12 up for the two days. Pictured at top are four local men who participated in the event, which draws some 120 players from various sections of the country. (Left to right) William H. Burnham, Jr., Pebble Beach; Thomas Mathews, Monterey; Charles H. Rayne, Carmel, and Robert Buckner, Pebble Beach.

GOLDEN BOUGH GROUP TO GIVE THREE PLAYS

The Golden Bough Players, said to be the oldest community play-producing group in the state next to the Pasadena Players, will produce three plays this mid-summer. After the destruction of Golden Bough Playhouse last year, the group finished up the season at Sunset Auditorium with performances of "By Candlelight" and "The Winslow Boy."

The new season will lead off on July 28 at Sunset Auditorium with "The Glass Menagerie," by Tennessee Williams, to be followed by Arthur Miller's "All My Sons." According to Edward Kuster, director, the third play will follow the usual pattern of Golden Bough summer productions, utilizing a large cast of local people and summer visitors. It will be selected later in accordance with casting possibilities at the top of the summer season.

Auditions will be held Monday and Tuesday evenings, June 19 and 20, at the piano studio of Emma Evans, San Antonio near Ocean Avenue. Mr. Kuster suggests that those interested in participating in the plays bring, if possible, reading matter of their own selection. Individual auditions may be arranged for other times by telephoning him at Los Laureles 9528.

Seen at the opening of the Leepa art collection showing last week at Highlands Inn: Countess Claude Kinnoull, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Wall, the Steve Crouches, Helen Clark Park, Ivy Lauer, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Farr, many, many others. All of them entranced with the Michaelangelic appearance of Mr. Leepa himself...

Carmelites will be glad to know that Anne Alexander, Carmel High School girl who was seriously injured in a fall from a local building recently, is already home from the hospital and doing fine. Talk about the resiliency of youth...

Franklin Brewer, of Carmel, claims he doesn't like publicity so we'll just mention the fact that his mother left the village this week to return East after a short visit here...

Well, we didn't believe him in the first place, but recently we ran a picture of Bob Clamptt's Great Dane, Ceares, in an attempt to find a new owner for him. Response was rapid and Bob actually let Ceares go for a short time. Now he's bought him back and we expect them to live happily ever after...

A much needed neighborhood movie theater will open in Carmel Valley on June 24. Known as the Robles Del Rio Theater it will be operated by Bill Wood, owner of the Robles Del Rio Lodge, and will be located in the former recreation hall at the Lodge. One hundred permanent seats of theater type have been installed. This summer the plan is to keep the theater open two or three nights a week on weekends.

Ran into Janet Buchanan Arnold, of Carmel Valley, last week as she drove through Carmel with three little French children who are visiting her. Despite having read a Berlitz book on French, couldn't even think of "Don Jour" when she introduced the tots. Will have to turn this over to Janine, our Parisienne columnist...

Haven't heard any squawks yet, but has anyone noticed those new plastic signs in various store and office windows around Carmel? They glow exactly like red neon when exposed to any amount of light. Ordinance writing will never, never keep up with the advance of science...

Carmel got taken by another con artist last week. This time it was a young man who breezed into town, made it known around the bars that he was the son of a famous Arizona resort, bounced enough checks around town that localites' ears are still ringing, then skipped without paying his hotel bill. Listening to the Monday morning psychologists brings forth the usual number of comments from people who "didn't like his looks in the first place," which doesn't help those who are caught with his bad paper...

AMERICAN MEDICAL
WOMEN'S ASSOCIATION
MEETING JUNE 19-22

The American Medical Women's Association will meet at the Del Monte Lodge June 19-22. This is the national society of women active in the practice of medicine. The president is a Californian, Dr. Dorothy Wells Atkinson, an internist of San Francisco.

The local committee consists of Dr. Zoe A. Johnston, of Carmel, and Dr. Margaret Swigart, of Monterey. Dr. Johnston is a past president of the AMWA and is a retired roentgenologist. The program will include scientific meetings and local sight-seeing tours. The 1950 Woolley memorial lecture will be given by Dr. Edith Potter, and new officers will be installed at a banquet on June 21.

BRAMBLETT THANKS POLITICAL SUPPORTERS

Representative Ernest K. Bramblett of the Eleventh California District has issued the following statement:

"I am deeply gratified by the vote I received in the Primary Election on June 6 on both the Democratic and Republican tickets."

"It is physically impossible for me to thank all my loyal supporters in the recent campaign, so I am taking this means of doing so."

"Needless to say, the heavy vote I polled on both tickets would not have been possible without the diligent work done by my supporters. I am deeply grateful to each of them."

"We should be confident of the outcome in November, because I am certain the great majority of the people of Ventura, Santa Barbara, San Luis Obispo and Monterey Counties believe in the principles of faithful performance of governmental duties, rather than pie in the sky political promises."

"Unfortunately for our cause, during the recent campaign, my duties in Washington prevented my personal campaign participation until the closing days."

"However, with the adjournment of Congress, I intend to personally nail every misrepresentation and slander made by the supporters of my opponent."

"We are in this campaign to a finish and we are going to win."

Psychological Problems...

By Dr. Bruno Franek

(Dr. Bruno Franek, a graduate of the University of Berlin, who has worked as psychiatrist in different parts of Germany as well as in Rome and Vienna, was invited by The SPECTATOR to write a series of short articles about generally interesting psychological phenomena.

If there are any psychological problems which you would like to have discussed, you are invited to write to The SPECTATOR: "Psychological Problems", Box A-O, Carmel, California. -- Ed.)

Copyrighted 1950. Permission must be secured before reprinting any part of or all of this article.

WHAT IS HYSTERIA

If we consider the sense of the word "hysterical" as used in common and journalistic language, we find the greatest variety of interpretation. There is, for instance, the bizarre, capricious behavior of the immature, erotic adolescent, the impulsive "hysterical" effusions of the glamour girl, the parasitic character with his noisy, make-believe feelings and exaggerated gestures, the type of spineless person with the fireworks of irresponsible emotions which conceal only emptiness, the furious husband smashing crockery and unable afterwards to stop his crocodile tears of remorse, or the hyper-sensitive wife who knows so well how and when to faint at the slightest sign of friction with her husband.

Popular language calls all these gradations of exaggerated behavior "hysterical," but this is very often a confusing and incorrect interpretation. What is the psychological meaning of the term hysterical? Is it possible to define hysteria?

All scientists practically agree about the fundamental concept of hysteria. In living beings one finds hysterical behavior as a typical reaction to situations which menace or impede the course of their lives. It is a general biological defense reaction to an overwhelming danger. We can observe such reactions very clearly in animals.

A bird caught in a room will aimlessly and excitedly flutter and dart about until finally by chance he may find an escape and resume his normal, peaceful flight. Man may react in a similar fashion when he finds himself in a panic situation by screaming, trembling and/or running desperately back and forth. This is the "normal" hysterical behavior caused by a most dangerous situation in life.

There is another principal form of hysterical behavior. Many animals protect themselves by falling into complete immobilization and may even remain in this hypnotic rigidity for hours. This is the so-called sham-death reflex. In the human fright hysterics similar reactions also occur in the form of temporary paralysis or pseudo hypnotic twilight states. These just described opposite possibilities, either hyper-mobilization or immobilization, are the two fundamental reaction forms of hysteria.

Everyone is capable of hysteria when confronted by an experience of ample severity. It is an instinctive defense pattern in which the rational intellect is extinguished and the individual reacts in a primitive, atavistic, emotional way.

Accordingly there are certain normal attacks of hysteria such as the angry kicking and screaming of the healthy child or the bombastic explosions of the teenager. However when such behavior occurs repeatedly in an adult we have to be on the alert. Hysteria is a real illness and should be respected and treated as such. Laymen very often treat such cases with a harsh and moralistic attitude, because it is too difficult for them to distinguish between the malicious theatrical cunning and real hysteria. Discipline cannot help the hysterical patient, only a deep understanding can accomplish this.

A psychologically well-trained person has to uncover the roots of fright and anxiety from which the hysteric suffers. There is always a subconscious purposeful goal present in each hysterical attack, namely to escape a dangerous situation which causes anxiety. We have to detect the reasons for such a "flight into sickness."

Experience shows that there is a close relation between hysteria and the sexual impulse. Especially endangered persons are those with infantilism, which usually manifests itself by physical weakness, genital malformations, dysmenorrhea, and in the psychic field by general childishness, a weak sexual impulse, aversion to men, or an overly strong psychic fixation to the mother.

Females tend to show a stronger sexually hysterical accentuated tendency than males. We might mention some of the most frequent conflicts of erotic experiences which often lead to hysteria, such as a futile love affair, the marriage of a sister, jealousy, a quarrel with a suitor, an undesired marriage, disturbances of sexual intercourse or fear of pregnancy.

One should consider very carefully the proportion between all possible constitutional as well as environmental factors to perform a successful individual psycho-therapy. If the hysteric does not wait too long to undergo good treatment the results are usually very satisfactory, and the patient can be helped, as well as his unhappy family.

Household Hint

When you go on an automobile trip wearing a suit, if the weather is chilly, wear a cardigan sweater while you drive, and hang the suit jacket in the back of the car. You'll be comfortable while you drive, and your jacket will be fresh-looking when you stop.

Women!! All the things we do to follow the dictates of fashion! One season we have tiny waist-lines and nice curves, the next, we are so slim that we look almost like boys... In summer we have short hair; in winter we acquire, by some miracle, soft, feminine curls. We "shrank" our mouth - then enlarged it. Pallor once was "the thing," the next we knew we had to have rouge on our cheeks. Now we have big wide eyes! And even, or should I say especially, without the doe-look make up, you can have beautiful eyes. All you have to do is to take very good care of them. And remember this: AVOID: Rooms with too much smoke; First rows of seats in movie theaters; Draught on your eyes (result: inflammation, styes.); Poor light when you work; Reading in bed; Insomnia (yes, I know, to avoid it is difficult); Alcohol; Sun without glasses; Going around in convertibles without glasses to protect your eyes from dust and wind that break eyelashes.

I RECOMMEND: the "Palming" - When you get home at night place the palms of your hands on your eyes, without compressing. Your eyes being open, you should not be able to see any light at all. For two minutes think of landscapes, rivers, flowers, ballet dancing, any agreeable thing. Surprisingly, you will find yourself relaxed; -

"Camomile eye bath": Your eyes are tired and your eyelids puffed up? Bathe your eyes three minutes in a camomile infusion.

When the Princess Elisabeth went to Paris with her husband, they dined at the Tour d'Argent (Silver Tower) where one evening 25 years ago ex-President Theodore Roosevelt created quite a lot of agitation. Yes, the Tour d'Argent is the restaurant where they serve the famed pressed duck. Each one is numbered. The date and the name of the person to whom it has been served are written in a big golden book. Aside from its wonderful food, the Silver Tower is beautifully situated on the seventh floor of a building along the Seine River, looking over Notre Dame.

No, I am not going to give you the real recipe for pressed duck, for it is kept secret by a generation of Terrails (they own the restaurant), but you will probably enjoy the: PEPPERED STEAK (for two persons): Take one pound of filet of beef. Roll it well in coarsely-ground black pepper. Fry it in butter until done. Then pour one wine-glass of cognac in the pan over the meat. Take a match, light the cognac. When flame is gone, take the meat out of the pan. Pour one glass of white wine into the gravy. Add two small tablespoonfuls of butter. Beat rapidly for a few minutes with an egg-beater. Serve on warm plates with watercress and French fried potatoes. Then enjoy it!

P.S. I am looking for an apartment or cottage in Carmel - long-term lease - reasonable price. Would appreciate very much any offer. Thank you.

ANSWER TO THIS WEEK'S

WHO IS IT?

Mike Balazs, new secretary-treasurer of the Carmel Lions Club, is featured in this week's "Who Is It?" Owner of the Quality Grocery in Carmel since 1942, Mr. Balazs is a Canadian by birth, having been born on a certain Friday the thirteenth in April of 1913 in Plunkett, Saskatchewan. Since his father was associated with U.S. Steel, he lived for a short time as a small child in Gary, Indiana, but the family returned to Canada in 1919 before moving to Livingston, California. While still very young, Mr. Balazs signed up on a photographer's crew for National Geographic, traveling all over the world between 1927 and 1932. He visited Cuba, Hawaii, the Philippines, India, China, Japan and other Far Eastern countries, gaining experience that he "wouldn't trade for anything." First visiting Carmel in 1932, he worked summers in local groceries, moving here permanently in 1935 after marrying the former Evelyn Ray, of Arena, California. They now have one daughter, Gwendolyn Marie, who enters the eighth grade at Carmel High School this coming autumn. Active in youth work for many years, Mr. Balazs is chairman of the O. W. Bardarson Scholarship Fund. A golfer and avid softball player, he was one of the few who helped revive the old Abalone League in Carmel. The familiar sports institution was kept alive through last season, but it looks like it has died out this year, he reports, and he isn't very happy about it.

SPREADING the NEWS...

By Howard Statham

Newcomers to Carmel this week are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Graham, of San Diego, who have purchased Harmony House, the place on Mission Street where you can buy Mason & Hamlin, Knabe and Fischer pianos and Hammond Spinnet organs, from Mr. and Mrs. Bartley Sims, who are heading for Ukiah. Reason for the Sims' departure is a half-completed radio station being built up north by Mr. Sims, who came to Carmel last September after a heart attack and doctor's orders to lead the quiet life until he had recuperated sufficiently to stand up under the strain that apparently goes hand in hand with the wireless type of communication. He's been in radio work for 25 years, and, he says, can hardly wait to get back. Mr. and Mrs. Sims want their friends on the Peninsula to know how much they've enjoyed living here, and chances are they'll be back quite often to keep a personal check on Carmel and vicinity.

Mr. Graham is a former insurance man, while Mrs. Graham has been active in music circles. She's a member of the Organists' Guild, Music Teachers' Society and the national music sorority, Sigma Alpha Iota. In San Diego she was associated with Thearl's Music Company and Finder's Music Store, and, before that, in Denver, with the Wells Music Company. Now she hopes to enter into the musical life of Carmel. The Grahams say they've always wanted their own store, and with their arrival in Carmel Sunday, their wish has been granted.

Another departure this week is that of Louise Sargent, who is leaving today for two or three weeks in Colorado, where she'll visit her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Smedley, in Littleton. She'll return by way of Colorado Springs with her mother, Mrs. J. L. Sargent, who at present is in Littleton. Twigs of Carmel will remain open for business as usual during Louise's absence. The real reason for mentioning Louise here is not the Colorado jaunt, but the fact that it will give me an opportunity to report that she once owned a cocker spaniel, named Little Brown Lady the Great, who was so upset by a particularly violent New England hurricane that she remained a nervous wreck for the rest of her days -- which, sadly, were far too few. The end came when Louise slammed a door too boisterously and Little Brown Lady the Great dropped dead of shock. Maybe the hurricane was the beginning of the end...but the burden of a name like that probably helped.

Among other interesting information I picked up this week is this, from Lorin Lacey, Monterey Austin dealer, to the effect that little things are coming from England in a big way these days. Austin, says Mr. Lacey, is now the fourth largest manufacturer of automobiles in the world, with 3,200 of them coming off the assembly line each week. Most of them are coming to the U.S., which is partly accountable to the devaluation of the English pound from $4.08 to $2.80.

A nice bit of quick thinking has solved, permanently, it seems, a problem that was beginning to get a Carmel lady definitely down. On several mornings last week her telephone wouldn't ring, and, on answering it, she would be asked various weird questions by a little girl of five or six who apparently likes to play with the telephone when her mother's back is turned. On the day of the last call, the little girl asked, "Do you have a long distance call in for Washington, D.C.?" "Why, yes, I do," replied the lady. "has it gone through yet?" After a perplexed pause, a somewhat weakened voice replied, "Er--yes, it has." "That's good," said the lady, "We're calling the F.B.I., you know. Someone's been bothering us on the phone for several days and we're getting sick and tired of it." There was a crash as the phone banged down at the other end of the line, and, since then, all the lady's calls have been strictly on the up and up, except for an occasional wrong number.

Any procrastinating member of the local citizenry who had ideas about bidding for the much-publicized rug made by England's Queen Mother Mary will be disappointed, no doubt, to learn that yesterday was the last day that bids would be accepted...In the not-too-late category, however, is Keith & Sons Nursery, in Monterey, which is continuing its sale of general nursery stock. Prices are cut to the core, and everything's on sale. When all the trees, shrubs, flowers and potted plants are gone, the Keiths will concentrate on selling things that don't grow. They'll have a line of garden ornaments that should be completely to the liking of any flower or bee inhabiting the Peninsula...Now comes news for the ladies which is somewhat outside the flowers-and-bees department, but which, I understand from Mr. Oscar Balzer, of Balzer's Department Store, definitely comes under the heading of "bargain." I quote (from an ad--not from Mr. Balzer): "New! An entrancing strapless slip by Majud to wear through daylight and starlight...and only $2.95." And a little farther down the page we learn that the "cloud-soft elasticized fabric molds and holds. Elasticized lace for extra cling. Adjustable ribbon beading for perfect fit and security." Also, "You'll forget you have it on...for THIS strapless slip stays up, as sure as the thermometer in August..." which means that the copy-writer probably didn't have the Monterey Peninsula in mind when he wrote the ad. Anyway, if all this isn't enough for you, you'll have to have a look for yourselves. Mr. Balzer, who has 'em exclusively in Carmel, says they're good--and that should be good enough.

Finally, I'd like to pass on the word that Jezebel's Dog House has received a shipment of ant villages. And if you don't know what an ant village is, my suggestion is that you take a quick trot down to the Dog House and get acquainted with one of the more pleasant occupations in life--that of just sitting around watching a bunch of innocent little insects working themselves to death. A very intriguing way of passing the time it is, too. For people who already have ants, let it be stated that these ants are trapped between two panes of glass and there's no way out for them--except that one grim, final release. To end on a cynical note, I quote Jack McCoy, proprietor of the Dog House, on the subject of ants: "They remind me of us...All they do is go back and forth hauling little pieces of dirt."

CARMEL BANK INSTALLS NEW MACHINE The Bank of Carmel this week received a long awaited "wonder machine." It is a National Cssh Register Proof Machine and is the very latest thing of its kind. According to Arne F. Halle, everything that comes in the front door - except the customers - goes through the machine. It can hold 20 separate totals at one time and deliver seven individual tapes and one master tape simultaneously. The bookkeeping department of the bank will be moved to the upper floor over the bank entrance, thus freeing the main banking floor of office noises.
